Art. Unit: 3677

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-34 and 44-47, drawn to a fastening or interlocking device, classified in class 24, subclass 442.
- II. Claims 35-43, drawn to a method and apparatus for making a device, classified in class 264, subclass 328.1.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

The article as claimed can be made by another and materially different apparatus that also defines another accompanying materially process of making the article. This is set forth below.

Inventions II and I are related as process of making as set forth in the process claims and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process such as providing a computer controlled rotating cutting tool, providing a block of material, and machining the block with a rotating cutting tool so as to have fastener with the claimed fenestrations, islands and undercuts.

Inventions II and I are related as apparatus in the apparatus claims and product made. The inventions in this relationship are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the apparatus as claimed is not an obvious apparatus for making the product and the apparatus can be used for making a different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different apparatus (MPEP § 806.05(g)). In this case the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different apparatus such as a computer controlled rotating cutting tool that forms the device with the claimed fenestrations, islands and undercuts.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group I is not required for Group II, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

If applicant should choose Group II comprising claims 35-43 as set forth above, then a further election of species among the apparatus and processes is required in response to this action. This election is only required if applicant elects Group II.

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention:

Group I comprising figure 15 comprising the reciprocating injection molding apparatus and method of using the apparatus appearing to correspond to claims 35, 36 and 39;

.Art Unit: 3677

Group II comprising figure 16 comprising the reciprocating cutting/bending apparatus and method of using the apparatus appearing to correspond to claims 35, 36, 39 and 42;

Group III comprising figure 17 comprising the rotating cutting/bending apparatus and method of using the apparatus appearing to correspond to claims 37 and 43; and Group IV comprising figure 18 comprising the continuous injection molding apparatus including rotating molds via a belt and method of using the apparatus appearing to correspond to claims 37, 38, 40; and 41.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, no claim is generic to all species of production.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

.Art Unit: 3677

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

A telephone call was made to Mr. Leonard Duffy on December 3, 2002 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
